SUPPLEMENTAL NOTICE OF APPLICATION

Plaintiffs CatchPlay Inc. (Cayman) and CatchPlay Inc. (Taiwan) (collectively “Plaintiffs” or “CatchPlay”) hereby supplement their separately filed Notice of Application and Hearing for Right to Attach Order and Order for Issuance of Writ of Attachment as follows:

Pursuant to Rule 65 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and Rule 65-1 of the Local Rules of this Court, Plaintiffs hereby apply for a Right to Attach Order and Order for Issuance of Writ of Attachment as against defendant Johnny Lin, a defendant in this action, who is represented by counsel at the firm Weingarten Brown LLP, 10866 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 500, Los Angeles, California 90024.

The amount to be secured by the attachment is $5,372,716. The attachment claim against Lin's assets is based upon Lin's status as the alter ego of defendant Studio Solutions Group, Inc. ("SSG"). California law allows writs of attachment to issue against an entity or individual who is not a party to a contract if that entity or individual is the alter ego of the party whose property is subject to attachment. See, e.g., Meizlisch v. San Francisco Wool Sorting & Scouring, Co., 213 Cal. 668, 670-71, 3 P.2d 310 (1931); Paul v. Palm Springs Homes Inc., 192 Cal. App. 2d 858, 862-63, 13 Cal. Rptr. 860 (1961). As applied here, the assets of Lin, as the alter ego of SSG, should be subject to attachment in addition to the assets of SSG. From the outset, it was admitted that Lin is SSG's sole shareholder, owner and chief executive officer. (Answer, Dkt. 121, at ¶ 15.) And, as shown in the accompanying declaration of Cedar Boschan, Plaintiffs have now obtained evidence of SSG's bank records demonstrating that [REDACTED]

This Application is based upon the concurrently filed Notice for Application and Hearing for Right to Attach Order and Order for Issuance of Writ of Attachment, Application for Right to Attach Order and Order for Issuance of Writ of Attachment

1 After Hearing, the Declarations of Daphne Yang, Valerie W. Ho, and Cedar Boschan, the 2 attached Memorandum of Points and Authorities, the pleadings and papers filed in this 3 action, and on such other material or argument that the Court may properly consider in 4 ruling on this Application.

5 This Motion is made following the conference of counsel, pursuant to Local Civil 6 Rule 37-1, that commenced on June 10, 2013 and was completed on June 20, 2013. The 7 basis of this motion was explained in writing in an e-mail sent to Defendants' counsel on 8 June 10, 2013, wherein Plaintiffs' counsel requested a meet-and-confer on June 13, 9 2013—the same time that the parties' counsel already were scheduled to meet and confer 10 regarding other pending discovery issues. Defendants' counsel, however, refused to 11 discuss this matter on the June 13, 2013 meet-and-confer teleconference, or during the 12 parties' other meet-and-confer on June 14, instead transparently delaying the meet-and-13 confer for as long as possible until June 20, 2013.

14 The Court had previously referred to the Magistrate Judge CatchPlay's Application 15 for a Right to Attach Order against SSG. The Magistrate Judge heard oral argument on 16 that Motion on June 18, 2013 and has taken the Motion under submission. While 17 CatchPlay files the current Application for a Right to Attach Order against Lin with this 18 Court, it assumes that this Application likewise will be referred to the Magistrate Judge.
19 Accordingly, CatchPlay will be serving the Magistrate Judge's Chambers with a courtesy 20 copy of this Application.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

New evidence uncovered by Plaintiffs now establishes that Plaintiffs are likely to prevail on their alter ego claim against defendant Johnny Lin (“Lin”), who is the sole shareholder, owner, and chief executive officer of co-defendant Studio Solutions Group, Inc. (“SSG”). Accordingly, Plaintiffs now seek to attach Lin’s assets along with the attachment over SSG’s assets.¹

On May 14 and 21, 2013, CatchPlay finally received copies of SSG bank records from Bank of America and JP Morgan, respectively. On June 18, CatchPlay also received copies of checks written from SSG's Bank of America accounts. The un-redacted bank records previously withheld by SSG reveal [REDACTED]

Worse,

¹ On June 18, 2013, the Court held a hearing on Plaintiffs' previously filed Application for right to attach order and writ of attachment against the assets of defendant SSG, which was brought on the grounds that (1) SSG's conduct resulted in breaches of its agreements with CatchPlay, (2) CatchPlay has established the probable validity of that claim against SSG, (3) SSG's attachment request was not sought for a purpose other than the recovery on the claim, (4) the attachment amount sought was greater than zero, and (5) the attachment amount sought was readily ascertainable in an amount not less than $500. (See Application, Dkt. No. 158.) The original amount sought in the attachment application regarding SSG's assets was $5,423,716; however, after new facts arose, that request was subsequently reduced by Plaintiffs to $5,372,716. (Dkt. No. 216.) Inasmuch as Lin is the alter ego of SSG, $5,372,716 is the amount of the attachment now sought against Lin's assets.

14 In short, SSG's own bank records establish that Plaintiffs are likely to prevail on 15 their alter ego claim against Lin. As such, attachment over Lin's assets is appropriate, in 16 addition to the already-requested attachment over SSG's assets.²

 13 [REDACTED] As the Court recognized in its March 28 Order, one of the issues in 14 this case is whether Lin “appl[ied] corporate funds and assets to his personal use, 15 including funds originally provided to SSG by plaintiffs that were to have been held by 16 SSG to pay future obligations with respect to audiovisual works to which plaintiffs hold 17 the Taiwan exploitation rights or to have been returned to plaintiffs if such audiovisual 18 works were not produced” (Ho Decl., Court Order, Ex. 1 [Dkt. 155 at 2].) The un-

14 When the Court ordered that CatchPlay was permitted to obtain SSG’s bank 15 account records, the Court correctly recognized the SSG bank records were relevant to 16 the alter ego issue in this case:

17 The requested SSG … account records are also relevant to the Alter Ego 18 Allegations in that they are reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of 19 admissible evidence which establishes whether Lim [sic] has improperly 20 siphoned excessive funds from SSG (including funds supplied to SSG by 21 plaintiffs), whether SSG funds (including those supplied to SSG by 22 plaintiffs) have improperly been used to pay Lim’s [sic] personal expenses, 23 and whether SSG’s and Lim’s [sic] funds have been commingled 24 improperly.

25 (Dkt. 155 at 6.) Now, the bank records that CatchPlay obtained confirm that [REDACTED]

5 [REDACTED], title is actually held in the name of another Lin controlled entity, 6 Slappy Happy LLC. (Ho Decl., ¶ 10, Exh. 7.) According to the California Secretary of 7 State's database, Slappy Happy, LLC's business address is Lin's residence—9311 8 Cherokee Lane, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. (Ho Decl., ¶ 11, Ex. 8.) Slappy Happy, 9 LLC's agent for service of process is Matthew Wallerstein, the same Wallerstein who 10 had sent to CatchPlay, on behalf of SSG, the August 20, 2012 letter in which SSG 11 threatened to terminate all of CatchPlay's rights unless CatchPlay paid SSG $5.246 12 million (no backup or accounting was provided).⁶ (Ho Decl., ¶¶ 11, 20, Exhs. 8, 15.)

25 1828 account. (Ho Decl., ¶ 15.) CatchPlay assumes no records were produced for the 26 1828 “checking” account because it is Lin’s personal bank account for which JP Morgan 27 was advised that records need not be produced pursuant to the Court’s Order. Some of 28 the JP Morgan statements indicate [REDACTED]

15 In short, there is ample evidence of “transactions between SSG and Lin” which 16 support CatchPlay’s alter ego allegations. (See Dkt. 155 at 2 & 7.)

17 III. ATTACHMENT AGAINST LIN’S ASSETS IS APPROPRIATE HERE

18 A. California Law Regarding The Availability Of Attachment Orders.

19 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 64(a) allows a party to invoke any remedy for 20 seizing property allowed under the law of the state in which the district court sits. The 21 effect of Rule 64 is “to incorporate state law to determine the availability of prejudgment 22 remedies for the seizure of property to secure satisfaction of a judgment ultimately 23 entered. Attachment is a prejudgment remedy that allows a creditor to have a lien on the 24 debtor’s assets until final adjudication of the claim sued upon.” Tesoro Ref. & Mktg. Co.
25 v. Cal. Finest Oil, CASE NO. 12-cv-1312-GPC-WVG, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14947, at 26 *4-5 (S.D. Cal. Feb. 4, 2013) (citing Granny Goose Foods, Inc. v. Brotherhood of 27 Teamsters & Auto Truck Drivers Local No. 70 of Alameda Co., 415 U.S. 423, 436 n.10 28 (1974)).

1 In California, writs of attachment are governed by California Civil Procedure Code 2 sections 481.010 through 493.060. Section 484.090(a) sets forth four elements that 3 Plaintiffs must show in order for the court to issue such a writ: (1) the claim upon which 4 the attachment is based must be one upon which an attachment may be issued; (2) 5 Plaintiffs must establish the probable validity of the claim upon which the attachment is 6 based; (3) the attachment must not be sought for a purpose other than the recovery on the 7 claim upon which the attachment is based; and (4) the amount to be secured by the 8 attachment must be greater than zero.” Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 484.090(a).

9 Where a defendant is a natural person, such as Lin in this case, all of the following 10 property is subject to attachment: interests in real estate (except leasehold estates with an 11 unexpired term of less than one year), personal property, equipment, motor vehicles, 12 chattel paper, negotiable and other instruments, securities, deposit accounts, safe deposit 13 boxes, accounts receivable, general intangibles, property subject to pending actions, final 14 money judgments, and personality in estates of decedents. See Cal. Civ. Proc. Code 15 §487.010(c).

16 B. CatchPlay Satisfies All The Statutory Requirements To Obtain A Writ of 17 Attachment Over Lin's Assets.

18 As set forth below, because CatchPlay can establish all the requirements in 19 California Civil Procedure Code section 481.010 et seq., a writ of attachment should 20 issue.⁷

21 1. CatchPlay's Claim Is One Upon Which A Writ Of Attachment May 22 Issue.

23 The first requirement under section 484.090(a) is that the “claim upon which the 24

25 ⁷ Evidentiary standards for deciding a pre-trial provisional remedy are relaxed. See Flynt 26 Distrib. Co., Inc. v. Harvey, 734 F.2d 1389, 1394 (9th Cir. 1984) (“The trial court may 27 give even inadmissible evidence some weight, when to do so serves the purpose of 28 preventing irreparable harm before trial.”); Johnson v. Couturier, 572 F.3d 1067, 1083 (9th Cir. 2009) (“A district court may, however, consider hearsay in deciding whether to issue a preliminary injunction.”).

1 attachment is based [must be] one upon which an attachment may be issued.” Cal. Code 2 Civ. Proc. § 484.090(a). Here, CatchPlay has asserted a breach of contract claim (see 3 FAC, Dkt. No. 76), and attachment based on breach of contract claim is specifically 4 contemplated by Civil Procedure Code section 483.010(a) (“an attachment may be issued 5 ... in an action on a claim ... for money ... based upon a contract”).⁸

6 Here, the underlying and already-pending request for attachment against SSG’s 7 assets is based on a contract claim, and the current request for attachment against Lin’s 8 assets is derivative of the underlying request, inasmuch as Lin is the alter ego of SSG.
9 California law allows writs of attachment to issue against an individual who is not a party 10 to a contract if that individual is the alter ego of the party whose property is subject to 11 attachment. See, e.g., Meizlisch v. San Francisco Wool Sorting & Scouring, Co., 213
12 Cal. 668, 670-71, 3 P.2d 310 (1931); Paul v. Palm Springs Homes Inc., 192 Cal. App. 2d 13 858, 862-63, 13 Cal. Rptr. 860 (1961); 16A Cal. Jur. 3d, Creditors’ Rights and Remedies 14 § 86 (2013) (“California law allows writs of attachment to issue against an entity or 15 individual who is not a party to a contract if that entity or individual is the alter ego of the 16 party whose property is subject to attachment.”); see also Hamilton Beach Brands, Inc. v.
17 Metric & Inch Tools, Inc., 614 F. Supp. 2d 1080, 1082 (C.D. Cal. 2009) (“California law

24 ⁸ Attachment may issue upon a proper “contract” claim “whether or not other forms of 25 relief are demanded.” Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 483.010(d). Thus, attachment may issue 26 on a contract claim even though the complaint contains other alternative noncontract 27 claims. See Samuels v. Super. Ct., 276 Cal. App. 2d 264, 267, 81 Cal. Rptr. 216 (1969).
28 Likewise, attachment may issue on a contract claim where, as here, equitable relief was sought (and granted) in addition to monetary recovery. See Paul v. Palm Springs Homes, Inc., 192 Cal. App. 2d 858, 863 (1961) (suit to recover money due under promissory note and to set aside corporate entity).

2 2. CatchPlay Is More Likely Than Not To Obtain A Judgment Against 3 Lin As The Alter Ego Of SSG.

4 The second requirement under section 484.090(a) is that CatchPlay must 5 “establish[] the probable validity of the claim upon which the attachment is based.” Cal.
6 Code Civ. Proc. § 484.090(a)(2). “A claim has ‘probable validity’ where it is more likely 7 than not that the plaintiff will obtain a judgment against the defendant on that claim.” 8 Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 481.190. A court makes this determination by “consider[ing] the 9 relative merits of the positions of the respective parties and make[s] a determination of 10 the probable outcome of the litigation.” Loeb & Loeb v. Beverly Glen Music, Inc., 166 11 Cal. App. 3d 1110, 1120, 212 Cal. Rptr. 830 (1985).¹⁰

12 Here, CatchPlay is more likely than not to succeed on its contract claim against 13 SSG, and thus should be granted the underlying right to attach order against SSG’s 14 assets, for all the reasons fully explained in the already-pending attachment motion heard 15 by the Magistrate Judge on June 18, 2013. Those reasons already are fully briefed and 16 17 ⁹ While the district court in Hamilton Beach denied the attachment request against the 18 alleged alter ego, it did so without prejudice and based on facts easily distinguishable 19 from the facts in this case. Specifically, the plaintiff in Hamilton Beach sought 20 attachment against the alleged alter ego of the signatory to a contract, but, unlike 21 CatchPlay here, failed to provide any evidence of, among other things, inadequate 22 capitalization and commingling of funds. 614 F. Supp. 2d at 1083. In contrast, 23 CatchPlay here has provided substantial evidence, taken directly from SSG’s bank 24 records, that shows [REDACTED]

25 [REDACTED].

26 ¹⁰ The “probable validity” component of the statute can be satisfied “by declarations and 27 documentary evidence” demonstrating, for example, the “(1) the existence and terms of 28 the royalty agreement, (2) the breach of the agreement, (3) the results of the audit, and 29 (4) [defendant’s] failure to pay the royalties due.” Koninklijke Philips Elecs. N.V. v.
30 Int’l Disc Mfrs., No. CV 06-2468-CAS (SSx), 2006 WL 4532985, at *5 (C.D. Cal. May 31 16, 2006). The court in Koninklijke found that defendant had failed to rebut plaintiff’s 32 demonstration that, at a minimum, it was “in breach of the License Agreements by its 33 failure to submit reports and failure to timely make royalty payments,” and therefore it 34 was “more likely than not” that plaintiff would obtain a judgment against defendant.

1 submitted, and they need not be repeated here. As for the derivative attachment request 2 against Lin, the evidence produced thus far also establishes the probable validity of 3 CatchPlay's alter ego claim against Lin.

4 We begin with the law of alter ego. There are generally two requirements to 5 impose alter ego liability on stockholders of a corporation:

6 "Usually, a disregard of the corporate entity is sought in order to 7 fasten liability upon individual stockholders.... 'It has been stated that the 8 two requirements for application of this doctrine are (1) that there be such 9 unity of interest and ownership that the separate personalities of the 10 corporation and the individual no longer exist and (2) that, if the acts are 11 treated as those of the corporation alone, an inequitable result will follow.'"

12 Las Palmas Associates v. Las Palmas Ctr. Associates, 235 Cal. App. 3d 1220, 1249, 1 13 Cal. Rptr. 2d 301 (1991). "The courts consider numerous factors, including inadequate 14 capitalization, commingling of funds and other assets of the two entities, the holding out 15 by one entity that it is liable for the debts of the other, identical equitable ownership in 16 the two entities, use of the same offices and employees, use of one as a mere conduit for 17 the affairs of the other, disregard of corporate formalities, lack of segregation of 18 corporate records, and identical directors and officers." Virtualmagic Asia, Inc. v. Fil- 19 Cartoons, Inc., 99 Cal. App. 4th 228, 245, 121 Cal. Rptr. 2d 1 (2002). "No single factor 20 is determinative, and instead a court must examine all the circumstances to determine 21 whether to apply the doctrine." Id. As applied here, the circumstances and facts revealed 22 by the new evidence in SSG's bank records establish that Lin is likely the alter ego of 23 SSG.

24 Initially, there is no dispute regarding a unity of interest and ownership, as Lin is 25 SSG's sole shareholder, owner and chief executive officer. (Ho. Decl., Ex. 14 [Answer, 26 Dkt. 121, at ¶ 15].) And, as the person in total control over SSG, the un-redacted SSG

24 ¹¹ Title to Lin's house is held in the name of Lin's LLC, Slappy Happy LLC, which was 25 formed just prior to the purchase of Lin's home. But Lin's creative shifting (and 26 attempted shielding) of assets cannot avoid the attachment remedy. With this 27 application, Plaintiffs seek to attach Lin's membership interest in his Slappy Happy 28 LLC entity. Plaintiffs also seek to attach Lin's ownership interest in his production company Filmula, as well as any other attachable securities and interests in LLCs or other partnerships.

13 In light of the foregoing, Plaintiffs are likely to prevail in showing that it would be 14 inequitable to recognize SSG and Lin separately. Thus, Lin's assets should be attachable 15 as the alter ego of SSG. See Las Palmas Associates, 235 Cal. App. 3d at 1249 ("[I]t 16 would be unjust to permit those who control companies to treat them as a single or

2 corporation is sought to be held liable is based on contract, express or implied, for the 3 direct payment of money, process of attachment is available against the property of said 4 corporation”).

5 3. CatchPlay’s Purpose In Seeking The Writ Is Recovery On Its Claim.

6 As with CatchPlay’s purpose in seeking a writ of attachment against SSG’s assets, 7 CatchPlay’s purpose here also is to create a judicial lien pending a determination on the 8 merits of this case, and for no other purpose. (Yang Decl., ¶ 2.)¹³ Indeed, attachment is 9 particularly appropriate here, given [REDACTED]

10 [REDACTED]. (See supra Section II.) See, e.g., N. Hollywood
11 Marble Co. v. Super. Ct., 157 Cal. App. 3d 683, 690, 204 Cal. Rptr. 55 (1984) 12 (explaining that “where the remedy of attachment is most needed” is to “protect the 13 plaintiff from dissipation of the assets of a financially distressed defendant.”).

14 4. CatchPlay’s Claim Is For A “Readily Ascertainable” Amount Not Less 15 Than Five Hundred Dollars.

16 CatchPlay’s underlying request for a writ of attachment against SSG is based upon 17 an express and implied contract claim that is readily ascertainable in an amount greater 18 than $500, thus satisfying the requirement for issuance of a writ of attachment under 19 Section 483.010 of the California Code of Civil Procedure.¹⁴ That issue already is fully 20 explained, briefed, and is under submission with the Court. Because the current request

21 ¹³ This is a sufficient showing to satisfy the standard for attachment under California 22 law. See Irving v. EBIX, Inc., 10-CV-762 JLS (BLM), 2010 WL 3168423, at *4-5 (S.D.
23 Cal. Aug. 10, 2010) (rejecting defendant’s argument that the plaintiff sought a writ of 24 attachment for an improper purpose, and further holding that the fact that a writ of 25 attachment might inconvenience the defendant “does not mean that Plaintiff’s motive is improper”).

26 ¹⁴ The original amount sought in the attachment application regarding SSG’s assets was 27 $5,423,716 (Dkt. No. 158); however, after new facts arose, that request was 28 subsequently reduced by Plaintiffs to $5,372,716. (Dkt. No. 216.) Inasmuch as Lin is the alter ego of SSG, $5,372,716 is the amount of the attachment sought against Lin’s assets.

1 for attachment against Lin is derivative of the underlying request, this requirement is 2 satisfied here for the same reasons.

3 5. Plaintiffs Are Prepared To Post An Undertaking.

4 Pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure sections 489.210 at 489.220, 5 Plaintiffs are prepared to file an undertaking of $10,000, or whatever reasonable amount 6 the Court deems appropriate. (Yang Decl., ¶ 3.)

7 IV. CONCLUSION

8 [REDACTED]
9 [REDACTED]. To prevent defendant Lin from doing the same for himself, and for all 10 the reasons set forth above, the Court should grant CatchPlay's attachment request 11 regarding Lin's assets.
